

Coollest neighborhoods

Barrio Italia: A bit southeast of the center, the upscale neighborhood of Barrio Italia is filled with lovely cafes, hip bars, and outstanding eateries. It's also the antiques district, where you can browse to your heart's content through bric-a-brac and restored furniture.

Barrio Lastarria: It is one of the most touristic neighborhoods of Santiago. It highlights the restaurants with its varied gastronomic offer, the antiques fair, art galleries, independent design stores, cinema, book fairs, coffee shops and bookstores.

The Lastarria Neighborhood has become a cultural space and a true legacy for architecture due to its important constructions. One of them is the Veracruz Parish, declared Historical Heritage in 1983. It was built between 1952 and 1957.

Lastarria neighborhood in Santiago, Chile

Barrio Yungay: It is a heritage neighborhood with buildings dating from the eighteenth century, considered as a jewel in the history of the country and it is currently an active cultural center.

Outdoor view of gorgeous garden with plants and palms between buildings in the Barrio Yungay in Santiago, capital of Chile.

Alonso de Córdoba: A upper-middle-class residential neighborhood, Alonso de Córdoba offers a glimpse into daily life in the city. With shopping, art galleries, and the Bicentennial Park, this barrio offers plenty for you to do and gives you a taste of luxury in Chile's capital.

Parque Forestal: This park is also located in the center of Santiago, on the banks of the Mapocho River. It was designed by Jorge Dubois at the beginning of the 20th century, with a plan to beautify the city. It is an ideal place to walk and be in the shade.

There are many benches to sit on. Inside we can highlight the National Museum of Fine Arts and Museum of Contemporary Art, also at the west end is the Mapocho Station Cultural Center.

Forestal Park in downtown Santiago